Court-Connected Construction Mediation Practice: A Comparative International Review

ISBN 978 1315 749 686

The value of mediation has also been widely acknowledged worldwide, as shown by the number of jurisdictions in which the courts enforce obligations on parties to negotiate and adopt mediation to settle construction disputes.

In association with the CIB TG89, Deniz Artan İlter and Andrew Agapiou edited and wrote together with a number of academics and professionals in six different countries the book: Court-Connected Construction Mediation Practice: A Comparative International Review.

This book examines the expansion and development of court-connected construction mediation provisions across a number of jurisdictions, including England and Wales, the USA, South Africa and Hong Kong.

This book also builds upon a 2016 special edition of International Journal of Law in the Built Environment, edited by Andrew Agapiou, which has examined Construction Mediation Practice, including the influences of the connection with formal civil justice systems, court-connected mediators' practices and that ways that key players approach mediation processes within a number of construction industry contexts.
