New CIB Proceedings W062 – Water Supply and Drainage Symposium 2018

ISBN: 978-989-97476-2-3

Introduction

The 44th International Symposium on Water Supply and Drainage for Buildings, CIB W062, was organized by the ANQIP (National Association for Quality in Building Installations) and the Regional Laboratory of Civil Engineering of the Azores (LREC), with the support of the International Council for Research and Innovation in Buildings and Construction (CIB). This Symposium took place in Ponta Delgada, Azores (Portugal), from 28th to 30th August 2018, and was expected that, as in previous symposia, it would contribute significantly to the dissemination of research and innovation in the field of water supply and drainage for buildings.

The proceedings contain 45 papers, most of which were presented in eight technical sessions. This large number of communications has obliged the organizers to consider some presentations in the form of posters. Among other topics, the sessions cover research and development in "drainage and sanitation", "water demand and supply", "sustainability, rainwater harvesting and reuse of wastewater" and "water efficiency, water-energy nexus and sustainable construction", including trends, applications, evaluation and management.

We thank all authors for their participation and contributions to this symposium.

We would further like to thank the international scientific committee and invited specialists for reviewing all the abstracts and papers and for their advice in editing the conference proceedings. We would also like to express our gratitude to the organizing committee and to all of our sponsors for their efforts and contributions toward the success of the event.
